Pet snack extrusion lines

Nowadays, much of the attention of the pet food industry is focused on the production of pet snacks and semi-moist pet treats. These pet snacks are fashionable products with high quality standards in taste and appearance. Therefore, constant innovation is essential.

Extrufood was the first in the market to offer multi-color pet snack production lines with the introduction of the Diemix®. During the past ten years pet snacks & treats have also been developed continuously.

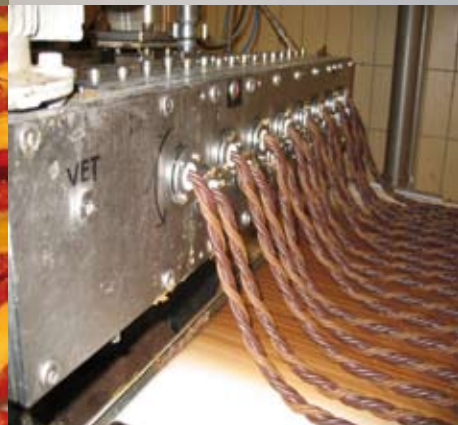

Pet snacks & treats with new shapes, some twisted and even with bright colors, can now be found in supermarkets and specialized pet shops. Extrufood excels in the design and manufacturing of dies for the pet snack industry.

Extrufood can help you to excel in this market. Our know-how of forming dies is a key factor here. Our Diemix®, our (co-)extrusion dies, and our rotary dies can provide you with endless possibilities to manufacture unique products in the most economical way possible.

Besides dies, Extrufood manufactures cooking extruders, forming extruders, guillotine cutters, and other equipment to create an efficient pet snack production process in order to produce the products today's market requires.

The rotary dies and fixed dies enable the production of pet snacks & treats with almost endless possibilities for combinations of colors, shapes and textures, twisted or non-twisted, co-extruded or hollow.

A Diemix® enables the production of pet snacks & treats with up to four different colors while using only one extruder. The Diemix® splits the cooked mass coming from the extruder into different masses. Each mass is then blended with the desired colors and flavors. The Diemix® has a compact design, and will usually fit in your production line without major changes.

Besides these unique quality and efficiency standards, Extruford designs production lines for pet snacks & treats with a unique amount of colors and shapes. With only one extruder we can make single products with up to four different colors, combined with different shapes and fillings.
